

WHAT DID I PROMISE HER LAST NIGHT

By: Mel Gibson

Written by: R. McCown, W. P. Walker

There she lies still sleeping
Dreamin' the whole world is in her hands
What she thought was love last night
Was just the wine, and the weakness in a man

But now the passions gone and all that's left
Is cold hard facts and cold gray mornin' light
As I promptly close the door I wonder
What did I promise her last night

I guess I should have wakened her
And told her that I must be movin' on
But I told myself the truth might hurt her worse
Than waking up to find me gone

But my conscience knows the truth
And it's so hard to convince myself I'm right
And as I slowly drive away I wonder
What did I promise her last night

I guess my now she's wakin' up
And packin' up her things and headin' home
With memories of a temporary love
She wishes never came along

How many one night stands must she go through
Before she finds a love that's right
And as I'm drivin' down the road I wonder
What did I promise her last night

I guess by now she's wakin' up
And packin' up her things and headin' home
With memories of a temporary love
She wishes never came along

How many one night stands must she go through
Before she finds a love that's right
And as I'm drivin' down the road I wonder
What did I promise her last night...
And as I'm drivin' down the road I wonder
What did I promise her last night....

